

Dr. Hessam Nowzari graduated from the University of Brussels in Belgium, University of Rennes in France, PhD in Biology and Health Sciences, and University of Southern California, Advanced Periodontics program. He was the Director of Advanced Periodontics at USC from 1995 to 2012 and a Diplomate of the American Board of Periodontology. He is the founder of the Taipei Academy of Reconstructive Dentistry in Taiwan. Since 2012 to 2016, an active member of a review committee for The National Agency for the Evaluation of Universities and Research Institutes (ANVUR) in Italy and served as one of the selected scientific experts charged with assessing and ranking research proposals on behalf of the Italian Ministry of Education, University and Research. He was the guest Editor-in Chief of the "Journal de Parodontologie & d'Implantologie Orale" 2013 in France and is on the editorial board of Clinical Implant Dentistry & Related Research. Dr. Nowzari is the Producer of a non-profit movie: "The Enemy of The Smile", the winner of the Best Short Educational Film in International Family Film Festival 2011 and the Beverly Hills film festival. "What Killed the Smile of Hatshepsut, A Woman Who Was a Pharaoh?" won the Award of Merit 2012 from "The Accolade Competition" that honors outstanding craft and creativity in film, television, and videography, and a short film entitled "One Race": (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qIMqkwXaLwg>). He is the organizer of "Nowzari Symposiums" in Beverly Hills: nowzarisymposium.com. There is no commercial exhibition of any kind at his symposiums. He has 150 research publications, 89 on PubMed.